PREFACE.

In presenting to the citizens of Cambridge the first number of the Cambridge Directory, the publisher believes that an object, long desired, has been attained. The want of a General Directory, which shall furnish information of the residences as well as the business of citizens, has, in consequence of the rapid increase of our population, been seriously felt. No effort has been spared to meet this want, and to render the present work generally useful and extensively adapted to the use of citizens and strangers.

Many difficulties have been encountered in the prosecution of this work. The unsettled state of a portion of our population, the want of numbers in our streets, and the consequent impossibilty of defining, in most instances, the precise location of residences, are among these difficulties. These things will be deemed a sufficient apology for any errors or imperfections which may be discovered. That there should even be the omission of names of citizens is, by no means, an improbability. It is but justice, however, to say that every effort has been made, in the preparation of the work, and revision of the sheets, to guard against imperfections of this and every other character.

Should the work be favorably received, it is the intention of the publisher to issue it annually. It is confidently believed that less difficulty will be experienced another year, and that succeeding numbers will present a copiousness and correctness not to be expected in the first.

To those who have aided the publisher in the preparation of this number, he would extend his sincere thanks. He also begs leave to express his hope that the work may be found to answer the end designed, and meet with general encouragement.

Our City.

The early settlers of Massachusetts, fearful of invasion, and conceiving a necessity for the preparation of some fortified place to which all could flee for protection upon an emergency, "began, in December [1630] to consult upon a fit place to build a town upon." So, after divers meetings at Boston, Roxbury, and Watertown, on the twenty-first of that month, the Rulers of the Colony pitched upon a spot a mile east of Watertown,* as "a fit place for a fortified town, and took time to consider further about it." In the spring succeeding, Gov. Winthrop, Deputy Gov. Dudley, and other of the principal men, together with a considerable number of the colonists, removed to the New Town, laid it out regularly in small lots, as a city, and proceeded to build. Various causes operated to prevent the execution of the design of making this place the metropolis of the Colony, and after some time spent in the undertaking, with great trouble and loss, it was abandoned, and Gov. Winthrop took down the frame of his house, and removed it to Boston.

The intention of fortifying the New Town was, however, resumed, and in 1632, under the direction of Dudley, who retained his residence here, the sum of £60, raised by tax in the colony for that purpose, was spent in surrounding above a thousand acres with a fosse and palisade. Some remains of this fosse have been visible, within a few years, in several places in Ward one, and may still be traced, perhaps, near Everett place, in that part of the city.

The tax was assessed upon the towns of the colony as follows:

|---|---|---|---|
| 1. Watertown, | £8. | 7. Salem, | £4 10s. |
| 2 The New Town, | 3. | 8. Boston, | 8. |
| 3. Charlestown, | 7. | 9. Roxbury, | 7. |
| 4. Medford, | 3. | 10. Dorchester, | 7. |
| 5. Saugus and Marble Harbor, | 6. | 11. Wessaguscus, | 5. |
| | | 12. Wineseimet, | 1 10s. |

During this year, (1632,) the first considerable accession of inhabitants was made by a company, which had then recently arrived from England, and had begun a settlement in what is now Braintree, but who, in August, by order of Court, removed to the New Town. During this year, they built a church, with a bell upon it,—probably the first in Massachusetts. "In some of the early years," says Dr. Holmes, "the annual election of the Governor and magistrates of the colony was holden in this town. On the day of election, the people assembled under an oak tree, which long remained a monument of the freedom, the patriotism and piety, of the fathers of New England."

The phrase, "the New Town," soon became recognized as the name of the town, under the form of NEWTOWN; but in 1636, upon the organization of Harvard College, the name CAMBRIDGE, was adopted.

Like most of the early settlements, the extent of the territory of Cambridge was at first somewhat indefinite. Since its incorporation, three other towns have been incorporated within its ancient limits:—Lexington, in 1713; West Cambridge, in 1807; and "Little Cambridge," under the name of Brighton, also in 1807. A movement made in 1844 and '45, to divide what remained into two separate corporations, finally resulted in obtaining from the Legislature an act incorporating Cambridge as a city, which was passed March 17, 1846, and was adopted by the town soon after, by a vote of 645 yeas to 224 nays. The first election of City Officers was holden in April, and the City Government was organized upon the 4th of May following.

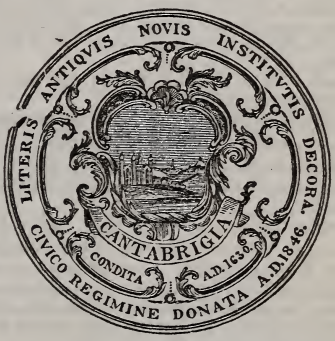
By an early ordinance of the City Government a City Seal was adopted, of which the following is a copy.



The City of Cambridge is divided into three Wards. Ward I, known as Old Cambridge, embraces the original settlement, and extends westerly and northerly to the towns of Watertown, West Cambridge, and Somerville. On the south, Charles river divides it from Brighton, and a ridge of higher land separates it from Ward II. In this ward are situated the University, the entrance to Mt. Auburn Cemetery, Fresh Pond Hotel, and the Massachusetts State Arsenal.

Ward II, known as Cambridgeport, occupies an extensive plain, bounded on the south and east by Charles river, on the north by the marshes which separate it from Ward III, and by Somerville, and on the west by the ridge of higher land before mentioned. In this Ward are the City Hall, the Almshouse, and the offices of the City Clerk, Treasurer, Marshal, &c.

Ward III, known as Lechmere Point and East Cambridge, is a bluff separated from Boston and Charlestown by the waters of the river, and from Ward II by extensive marshes and narrow creeks. This Ward contains one of the Court Houses and Jails of Middlesex County, a House of Correction, and various County Offices.

Cambridge Fire Department.

The Fire Department of the City of Cambridge is composed of a Chief Engineer, four Assistant Engineers, four Engine Companies, (only three of which have organized Companies at the present time) and one Hook & Ladder Company. There is a Volunteer Company which has charge of the Pioneer Engine, No. 6, who are not obliged to turn out, unless they feel disposed so to do; their object being, mainly, to protect their own immediate neighborhood—near the Hancock Free Bridge. There is also another Company in Ward 1, who own their Engine, and who are paid by the hour when they work at a fire. The regular Companies are allowed not more than forty men, and not less than thirty-five; and the Hook & Ladder Company, not more than twenty men, and not less than seventeen.

The compensation paid to each member is $15 per annum, and such further sum to each Engine Company, as, when added to the amount paid to the several members, shall make a total of $700, per annum; and for the Hook & Ladder Company $350. This is in full for fuel, oil, Steward's fees, &c. The appropriation for this Department is about $5000 per annum.

Harvard University.

"Scarcely had the venerable founders of New England," says Dr. Holmes, under the date of 1638, "felled the trees of the forest, when they began to provide means to ensure the stability of their colony. Learning and Religion they wisely judged to be the firmest pillars of the Church and Commonwealth. The Legislature of Massachusetts, having previously founded a public School or College, [by a grant of £400, in 1636,] had, the last year, ordered, that it be at Newtown; and appointed a committee to carry the order into effect. The liberality of an individual now essentially contributed to the completion of this wise and pious design. John Harvard, a worthy minister, dying this year, [1638] at Charlestown, left a legacy of £779 17s. 2d. to the public School at Newtown. In honor of that earliest benefactor, this collegiate School was soon after, by an order of Court, named Harvard College; and Newtown, in compliment to the College, and in memory of the place where many of the first settlers of New England received their education, was called Cambridge."—Holmes' Annals.

By the fostering care of the Government during its early years, and by the munificence of individuals, in later years, the "public School at Newtown," has now become the well known University at Cambridge,—the most extensive and best endowed Seminary of Learning in the United States. It now consists of five Departments,—the College; the Law, the Divinity, the Medical, and the Scientific Schools; and the number of officers of instruction and government in all the departments, is forty-one.

Some of the peculiar advantages of this institution are, the finest public and miscellaneous Library in the United States, consisting of more than 53000 volumes; the best Law Library in America, if not in the world, containing over 12000 volumes: the best refracting telescope in the world; and funds for the assistance of meritorious indigent students, to the amount of more than $1400, annually, and this sum constantly increasing. By the last Catalogue, to which

THE CAMBRIDGE CHRONICLE,

A FAMILY NEWSPAPER,

PUBLISHED WEEKLY, ON THURSDAY MORNING,

BY JOHN FORD,

AT TWO DOLLARS PER ANNUM, IN ADVANCE.

THE CHRONICLE has been established nearly two years, and its object is to furnish to the citizens of Cambridge, regularly, an account of all that is transpiring within their limits, of public interest and utility. This is its leading feature.

Unceasing efforts are made, aside from a record of local affairs, to present the LATEST INTELLIGENCE from all parts of the country, and also such a variety of interesting miscellany, as may be necessary to constitute a GOOD FAMILY PAPER. Our means for doing this are ample, and we shall not be slow to use them.

There are regularly published, Reports of the doings of Mayor and Aldermen, Common Council, School Committee, and Police. The City Ordinances are published by authority in this paper.

The columns of the Chronicle are freely offered for the discussion of all matters of general interest—save those which involve party politics. Here we stand on neutral ground, and our neutrality will be strictly adhered to.

The Office is in Cambridgeport, on the corner of Main and Magazine streets, over the store of J. A. Holmes & Co.

BOOK & JOB PRINTING.

Connected with the Office, is a good assortment of Type for JOB, FANCY, AND CARD PRINTING, and our facilities are such that we can execute every variety of Job Printing, as reasonably, and in as good style, as at any other establishment. A share of the public patronage is solicited.

HOPKINS CLASSICAL SCHOOL,

ON

DANA HILL.

THE design of this School is, not only to prepare boys for the University, but also, to fit them for any of the various departments of life. Untiring efforts are made to lead the pupils to the foundation of those habits of diligence, cheerful submission to just authority, and proper regard for the rights and feelings of others, so essential to the character of a good citizen and agreeable neighbor. No scholar will be retained, after it has become evident that he is receiving no benefit himself or is inflicting positive injury upon others. The most perfect frankness will, at all times be used, in communicating to parents the faults, as well as the virtues of their children, hoping thus, to secure their co-operation in correcting the one, or in establishing the other. Grateful, for the constantly increasing patronage bestowed upon the School for the last six years, the subscriber assures all those parents, who continue to entrust their children to his charge, that no efforts will be spared, on his part, to render the school all that can be desired.

To classes, either at their residence or his own, as it may be most convenient for them.

Proficiency in this most useful accomplishment, which is deemed so necessary a part of an European education, may be attained by a little time and study; and there are but few in the world, who have not, some time or other, seen a face or a landscape, whose features they would wish to copy if they had the skill. The Art of Drawing is not a mere accomplishment, but is of the most practical utility to those intended for business or professional pursuits.

M. Fette has had long experience as an artist and teacher, and his pupils may rely on his most earnest devotion to their improvement.

Those desirous of joining his classes, or of receiving private tuition at their own residences, may leave their names at his residence on Austin street, last house in the block opposite Mr. Ware's Church, Cambridgeport, or at the Bookstore of Mr. Nichols, Old Cambridge.

HANKS' IMPROVED AIR HEATER.

For warming Public and Private Buildings of all Kinds.

COMBINING more advantages than any article of the kind now in use. As the locomotive boiler is in economical and effective service, when compared with other boilers, so is this Improved Air Heater, when compared with other Heaters, now so generally used by the community at large.

1st. It will radiate more heat with a given quantity of fuel, than any other apparatus now in use for the same purpose.

2d. It is perfectly accessible at all times, and may be cleared of ashes and soot, either when in operation or not, by simply removing the rear plate of the Radiator.

3d. All the coal it may contain can always be seen by looking in at the "feeding door;" thus it may at once be known if the quantity and quality of coal is as it should be.

4th. It is so constructed that the required quantity of heat can always be had and controlled, diminished or increased at pleasure, with a corresponding consumption of fuel.

Air-Tight Quick Oven Stoves,

FOR COOKING WITH COAL OR WOOD. The best oven is that which will bake meat or bread, in the shortest possible time, without burning. Meat baked in this way, has all that sweetness of flavor so peculiar to meat roasted in a tin oven, and the bread retains all the freshness of the grain.

A slow, sluggish oven, parboils before browning, which accounts for that close, confined, sweaty taste of meat, so unpleasant to the epicure, when baked in a slow oven.—Bread baked in a slow oven is merely kiln dried, the crust browned and dried from a quarter to an inch into the body of the loaf.

This Stove has been called the Quick Oven, for the reason that it will bake in as short a time as may be required. It can also be made so slow as to bake the most delicate cake. Bake quick or slow, at pleasure, and all this can be done without turning the articles.

It is better than a brick oven, for the reason that it can be made to bake quick or slow, and it will bake in every respect as well. For sale at D. PROUTY & Co.'s

THE MEDAL STOVE.

THE MADEIRA PARLOR COAL STOVE.

HAS now been before the public so long, that its merits are fully known and its superiority acknowledged. It is a handsome stove, being of cylindrical form, and ornamented in a very tasteful manner. It is economical. From a ton to a ton and a half of nut coal will go through the season. It may truly be called the poor man's stove. It gives a peculiarly pleasant heat, producing in every part of the room a summer atmosphere. This effect is secured by the free circulation of air through the internal columns and chambers of the stove, and the dullness and headache so often occasioned by close coal stoves, is not experienced in the least. It requires but little tending. The fire is kindled with ease, and if properly looked to, will not go out from week to week. A moment's attention on going to bed, ensures a bright fire in the morning. Not the least of its recommendations is its freedom from dust. The arrangement for clearing the stove is such that not a particle of ashes need to come into the room.

At the Mechanic's Fair, held recently in this city, only one Stove received a Medal, and that the Committe awarded to the MADEIRA PARLOR STOVE—a Silver Medal.

Persons in want of an article upon which they can rely, will do well to call before purchasing.

Every Stove put up by ourselves, warranted to suit, or the money refunded.
